

Name _____

My Family and the 2020 Census

Adults at Home: Today we learned about surveys and about counting people. We also learned that the Census Bureau counts all the people in the country. Counting people helps the Census Bureau learn how many people live in different places, so we'll know how many parks, schools, and other things those places need. That's why it's important for everyone to be counted in the census! Let's start right here: How many people live in your home? Let's count!

Let your child draw a picture of everyone who lives in your home. Then guide them in counting all the people in their picture and writing that number on their worksheet.

_____ people live in my home.