Greetings Cleveland Metro Remote High School Scholars and Families:

I would like to officially welcome you back to the 2024-2025 school year! My name is Tiffany James, and I am proud to serve as the principal of Cleveland Metro Remote High School. I have been an educator for 27 years, serving students in the classroom for 15 years as a science teacher (5 of those years were spent here at East Technical High School), and 12 years as a CMSD administrator, serving both students and teachers at John Marshall High School, Washington Park Environmental Studies Academy, East Technical High School, and now at Cleveland Metro Remote High School.

A new year brings fresh opportunities to learn and grow, embrace challenges, engage with your teachers, make new friends, and discover your passions. Whether you're a returning student or a fresh face in our remote environment, know that you are an essential part of our school community.

When I think of our school days together, I imagine you standing at the threshold of your remote classroom, backpack slung over one shoulder, and curiosity in your eyes. Behind those screens lie countless possibilities—a canvas waiting for your ideas, a stage for your talents, and a forum for your questions. Together, we'll navigate you towards success with resilience and enthusiasm.

Our Collective Journey

1. Screens and Souls: Remember that behind every screen is a fellow learner—a soul seeking knowledge, connection, and growth. Be kind, be patient, and be present. Let's create a space where empathy thrives.
2. Zoom Adventures: Our Zoom calls are like magical portals. Click that link, and suddenly you're in a room with classmates, teachers, and the occasional photobombing pet. Embrace the quirks; they're the spice of our remote lives.
3. Chat Box Chronicles: The chat box is where the real action happens. Use it wisely: ask questions, share insights, and sprinkle in some virtual high-fives. And yes, emojis count as a language.
4. Tech Wizards Unite: When tech gremlins strike (and they will), fear not! Restart routers, update browsers, and channel your inner tech wizard. You're more powerful than any spinning loading icon.

I look forward to an amazing year of learning together even when we're apart.

Warmly,

Tiffany L. James, Principal
