

Weekly JACCA Update from Ms. Kelly

Week of November 23rd

Greetings JACCA Students and Families

We have a short week this week due to Thanksgiving!

Some senior Rebel football players had the opportunity to attend the Cleveland Browns game yesterday, where they were recognized for their hard work and resilience despite not getting to have a final season. We are proud of all of our

Quarter 2 JACCA Remote Learning Schedule Changes

We used feedback from JACCA students and staff about their experience during Quarter 1 to make some adjustments to our remote learning schedule for Quarter 2! Here are the changes:

- Monday/Thursday
 - No IG Live
 - No Rebel Success Sessions after lunch

- Morning Circle after last class
- Tuesday/Friday
 - No IG Live,
 - No Rebel Success Sessions after lunch
 - Teacher Office Hours after last class
- Wednesday
 - Start with all school meeting followed by grade-level breakouts
 - PLT and lunch earlier in the day
 - 3 Rebel Success Sessions after PLT and lunch

The new schedule is below, and students should have received an email on 11/16 with their classes plugged into this schedule. Be sure to ☆ this email so it is easy to find.

Attendance

It is important to understand that expectations for the online learning occurring in the fall is DIFFERENT than the expectations for engaged learning that we had in the spring. Attendance will be taken and grades will be issued this quarter.

Beginning this week, students will receive a weekly attendance report in their JACCA gmail. This report will let them know how many absences were recorded for them the following week, as well as their total absences and attendance rate so far this year.

Below is some helpful information to help you understand how attendance will be taken at JACCA.

Remote Learning Attendance Guidance for JACCA Students and Families

During Remote Learning, students at JACCA will attend school and be counted as “present” for attendance in each course in two different ways:

Synchronous Time

- ★ Live sessions with teacher via Zoom or Google Meet
- ★ Counts for 2 days of attendance each week

Students will be marked as present in each class for:

- Attending the 2 “live” synchronous sessions for the class each week

If students miss a synchronous session, they can make-up attendance the following ways:

- Watch the recorded session posted by the teacher and complete any “check for understanding” assignments
- Attend a Rebel Success Session for the class
- Contact the teacher to discuss other options

Asynchronous Time

- ★ Independent work or attending support sessions
- ★ Counts for 3 days of attendance each week

To be marked present for asynchronous days, students can do the following:

- Complete assignments posted in Google Classroom
- View recorded lessons and complete activities in Google Classroom
- Attend Rebel Success Sessions
- Maintain regular contact with the teacher
- Contact the teacher to discuss other options

The teacher(s) of each class will use a combination of the evidence above to determine the number of days the student is considered “present” for the week.

Morning Circle Attendance

- ★ Attending the “live” synchronous session on Wednesdays will count as present for the week

Continue to call students off at 216.838.4000 when your child will be absent from remote learning for the day.

Guardian Email Summaries for Google Classroom

Parents/Guardians can monitor their student's progress by signing up for Guardian Email Summaries. These daily or weekly emails provide information about each class, missing work, assigned work, and class announcements. Reach out to any JACCA teacher to get added. Once you are added for one class, you have access to all of your student's classes. The video below has more information about Google Classroom Guardian Email Summaries.
