Community Based Services

SouthWest Community Based Services is a social service agency located in Parma, Ohio that serves fourteen local communities.

The objective of southwest Community Based Services (SWCBS) is to link families with the resources that meet their needs and focus on the well-being, safety, academic success, and stability of children and their families in all of the communities in which it serves.

Through partnerships with community churches, businesses and other organizations we coordinate the following services:

Case Management

A voluntary program to assist families with assessing their strengths, building a team of natural supports and making a plan to use strategies and goals to stabilize the family and make them successful by their own definition of success.

Helping Hands Initiatives

- Backpacks and school supplies
- Winter Coats
- Non-perishable food pantry
- Holiday Assistance

Community Resources

- Clothing Center: Volunteer run and operated with donations. The Clothing Center is open every Thursday from 2:00 pm to 4:00 pm. ID is required.
- Parenting Partners: Held through-out the year, this seven week course is designed to make good parents great! FREE!
- Food: Working with the Hunger Network we have donations of fresh produce, baked goods and other items. Schedule varies-please call for availability.
- Parent support groups: Held in conjunction with our lead agency, University Settlement. Online and in person support groups for foster, kinship and bio parents.

Community Family Visitation Site

We provide space and support services for families to visit during involvement with Cuyahoga County Division of Children and Family Services. By appointment only.
