Different Keys for Different Places

Using the same password for multiple sites opens the door to greater losses.

Don’t reuse – use a unique password for every online account.

Use different passwords for different accounts, just as you use different keys for your car, home, and mailbox.